

HOSPITALS & CLINICS

Your Partner for a Healthy Environment

Environmental hygiene is paramount in healthcare and medical facilities as it is crucial to the prevention of healthcare associated infection (HCAI). At Urban Jungle, we understand the importance of patient treatment and accommodation facilities to be always kept as clean and sterile as possible to minimise the risk of cross contamination that could eventually leads to HCAI.

KNOW YOUR INDUSTRY PEST

Cockroach Management Services

The most notorious pests, they contaminate all places with droppings, bacteria, fungi and other pathogenic microorganism causing severe food poisoning.

Fly Management Services

Drain Flies and other insects breeding around the open water facilities and in other areas is common in most of the hospitals.

Rodent Management Services

The most common issues in hospital are generally related to warm shelter and food if canteen is present. Rodents get attracted to food stored, as well as the warm shelter with plenty of hiding places to act as breeding places.

Mosquito Management Services

Closed area of hospital with green plantation and water stagnation creates conducive breeding zones for mosquitoes that spread malaria, chikungunya, dengue, and encephalitis or brain fever.
